

INVITATION

to the 29th International Symposium "Deltas and Wetlands" 2022

Ladies and Gentlemen,

It is our great honour to invite you to the 29th edition of the International Symposium "Deltas and Wetlands" 2022, which will be held in Tulcea, Romania, between June 01 - 05, 2022, under "Deltas and Wetlands DDNI Scientific Event Community". Like the 2021 edition (<http://ddni.ro/wps/ddni-jubilee-symposium/>), the event will take place in compliance with the legal provisions regarding the pandemic.

The value of the Symposium has increased from year to year, winning a beautiful tradition and the most recent achievements of the Danube Delta Biosphere Reserve and other wetlands. Thus, the Symposium creates the possibility to identify and discuss the scientific aspects related to the implementation of the European Environmental Directives at national level as well as those related to the cross-border and interregional cooperation.

The Symposium is structured in 4 main sections, covering a large range of research fields: biodiversity assessment, aquatic ecology, natural resources, ecological restoration and human impact, new research approaches in EU climate change challenge - Neutral carbon 2050, GIS and Application System Modeling. The participants will have the opportunity to communicate their research results through oral presentations and posters.

The agenda of the event integrates:

- Plenary presentations of personalities from the scientific world (Keynote Speakers),
- Parallel events: Green Deal Challenges - Decarbonising Danube Delta: 3D Initiative, EDAPHIC-BLOOM Danube - Ecological resizing through urban and rural actions & dialogues for GHG mitigation in the Lower Danube Floodplains & Danube Delta, IASON - Invasive Alien Species Observatory and Network Development for the Assessment of Climate Change Impacts in Black Sea Deltaic Protected Areas, Development of the Migratory Fish Monitoring Station: sturgeon and pontic shad - Isaccea,
- Scientific communications (oral and posters) in the 4 sections,
- Round tables of debates: "Pharmaceuticals vs. water quality" and "Regenerative farming. Smart agriculture. Agriculture Living Labs",
- PICO presentations (Presenting Interactive Content),
- Application in the Danube Delta Biosphere Reserve, one of the largest European wetlands known for its biodiversity and unique habitats, hosting an amazing range of habitats and life forms, a real museum of biodiversity, a natural genetic bank with incalculable value for the worldwide natural heritage.

We would like this event to be an absolutely memorable one, that offers to participants a meeting place where experience and knowledge can be shared and exchanged, whether they are researchers, private companies or government institutions.

We would be honored if you would participate in the event as Speaker and we invite you to send us the Registration Form (annexed) by May 13, 2022. For further details, please contact Mrs. Veronica Moşman, e-mail: veronica.mosman@ddni.ro and Mr. Edward Bratfanof, e-mail: edward.bratfanof@ddni.ro.

Kind regards,

General Director
Dr. Biol. Marian TUDOR
